

MONTE VISTA CHRISTIAN SCHOOL

MODL 1721, Japanese I

Course Syllabus

Course Description:

Japanese I course is a yearlong elective course designed to develop speaking and listening proficiency to carry out simple everyday conversations, reading skills to comprehend short, simple written materials, and writing skills to write short memos and letters using appropriate Hiragana, Katakana and Kanji Scripts. Students will master Hiragana and Katakana by the end of this course. Students are encouraged to participate in class activities in Japanese. All activities are designed with the National Standards for Foreign Language Learning in mind so that the students may attain the ACTFL proficiency range of Novice Low-Mid.

Students will have regular opportunities to interact with a variety of authentic language materials including websites, newspaper/magazine articles, advertisements, and literature. Students will improve their Japanese through teacher-created web-based exercises such as Quizlet and Edmodo and will regularly use the iPad to conduct web searches, type essays, create Keynote presentations, and correspond using email. The integration of Japanese culture study throughout the course includes Japanese calligraphy, cooking, flower arrangement, origami, tea ceremony and field trips. They allow students to explore the relationship between Japanese cultural products, practices, and perspectives within the context of their language study.

Curricular Mapping:

Classroom interactions are focused around three modes of communication: interpersonal, interpretive, and presentational for meaningful purposes. The “5Cs” of the ACTFL World-Readiness Standards for Learning Languages- Communication, Cultures, Connections, Comparisons, and Communities- are integrated through a thematic content-based unit approach while students build up language competence. Students will work from both a whole-to-part and a part-to-whole approach to develop mastery of given topics.

Course Objectives:

Using the five C’s as guiding principles, the following goals are identified to develop the AP Japanese curriculum from Japanese I through AP Japanese. The ultimate objective of Japanese I is to attain the ACTFL proficiency range of Novice Low-Mid.

Goal 1: Students will effectively engage in interpersonal communication, exchange information and opinions, and express feelings.

Goal 2: Students will be able to interpret authentic or semi-authentic written and spoken

Japanese on a variety of topics that relate to everyday life and contemporary society of Japan.

- Goal 3: Students will be able to give an oral, multimedia, or written presentation to share research, ideas, and opinions on a variety of topics that relate to everyday life and contemporary society of Japan.
- Goal 4: Students will demonstrate an understanding of Japanese culture by studying the relationship of products and practices to their cultural perspectives in the life of Japanese people.
- Goal 5: Students will demonstrate an understanding of their own culture and values and the nature of language by comparing them with the Japanese language and culture.
- Goal 6: Students will expand their knowledge in other disciplines and recognize distinctive viewpoints that are unique in Japanese culture.
- Goal 7: Students will use Japanese outside the classroom and beyond the school setting to connect themselves with the real world.
